2. A College Principal shall take reasonable action to protect students and staff from conditions harmful to health and safety.

3. A College Principal shall take reasonable action to provide an atmosphere conducive to learning.

4. A College Principal shall not misuse professional relationships with students, parents and caregivers, staff, or colleagues to private advantage.
5. A College Principal shall disclose confidential information about individuals only when a compelling professional purpose is served in accordance with state and federal laws, and College district policies.
6. A College Principal shall not knowingly falsify or misrepresent records or facts relating to the Principal's qualifications, or to the qualifications of other staff or personnel.
7. A College Principal shall not knowingly make false or malicious statements about students, students' families, staff, or colleagues.
8. A College Principal shall not accept gratuities, gifts, or favors that impair professional judgment, nor offer any favor, service, or item of value to obtain special advantage.
11. A College Principal shall only accept a contract for a position when licensed for the position or when a College district is granted a variance or letter of approval by the board.
12. A College Principal, in filling positions requiring licensure, shall employ, recommend for employment, and assign only appropriately licensed personnel, or persons for whom the College district has been granted a variance by the appropriate state board or agency, unless, after making reasonable efforts to obtain a variance, an appropriately licensed person cannot be assigned and the position must be filled to meet a legitimate emergency educational need.
13. Makes Ethical Decisions Principals should make all their decisions based on the best interests of the students. Ethical principals never put their interests above the greater good of the schools they serve. They are fair in their disciplinary actions for both staff and students. They are champions for due process and respect the rights of all human beings.
14. 12Honors Commitments Principals must stand by their word. They need to honor all aspects of their employment contract. Unethical conduct includes abandoning the job and leaving the position without a mutual agreement in place to do so. The welfare of the children is the highest priority, and failing to provide adequate supervision on and off campus equates to total disregard for the position held.
15. 13 Abides By Laws Principals are not criminals. Felonies and misdemeanors are considered in violation of ethical conduct. Principals must disclose any acts that result in criminal and civil charges against them. They must carry themselves with the highest integrity and avoid careless decisions that result in violations of the law.

16. 14 Maintains Professional Boundaries Ethical principals refrain from inappropriate conduct and relationships with students and staff. These activities include making obscene gestures, snapping compromising photos or having intimate relations. This type of conducts includes all forms of communication. Text messages, phone calls and social media interactions that are deemed wrong by the school board can result in the principal's termination.

17. 15 Objective Leadership Principals should empower all staff members and students to reach their maximum potential. This is done by allowing teachers to practice reasonable educational freedom without interference by a biased principal. This also means allowing students to be creative in their educational pursuits by honoring their commitments to their own culture and heritage.

18. 15 Honesty Principals must apply active and passive honesty. They should never directly lie to anyone. They must never withhold vital information that should be made public. This is also a form of lying. They must also report acts of alleged abuse to the proper authorities. Failure to do so puts more children at risk from a free abuser. Children trust their principals to take care of them, even when they become high school students who want to pretend they don't need anyone.

19. 16 Universal Standards All states govern their own ethical policies. Codes of conduct may differ in content, but, at their core, they stand for the same things. A principal should always be honest, fair, law-abiding, objective, supportive and protective even when the students don't want him to be.

E) CODE OF CONDUCT FOR GOVERNING BODY

1) Statutory enforcement of code, complaints, investigation, and hearing. This part shall be enforced in accordance with S.P.MANDAL Statutes, When oral complaints alleging violations of the code of ethics for College Principals are received, the board shall request the complaining party to submit a written complaint.
