Ex-student Interaction

ACTIVITY REPORT

Name of Activity: Ex-student Interaction.

Organized by: Department of Psychology, Manas Club.

Date: 25th August, 2026.

Venue: Room No- 18.

Participants: B.A I Year Psychology Students.

Introduction:

The Department of Psychology organized an Ex-Students Interaction with Students Programme during the academic year 2026–27. The programme aimed to create a platform where former students (alumni) shared their educational journey, career experiences, and practical insights with current students.

Objectives:

- To strengthen the relationship between alumni and current students.
- To motivate students through alumni experiences in academics and career.
- To provide guidance regarding higher education, competitive examinations, and employment opportunities.
- To help students understand practical applications of psychology in various fields.
- To encourage networking, mentorship, and professional development.

Learning Outcomes

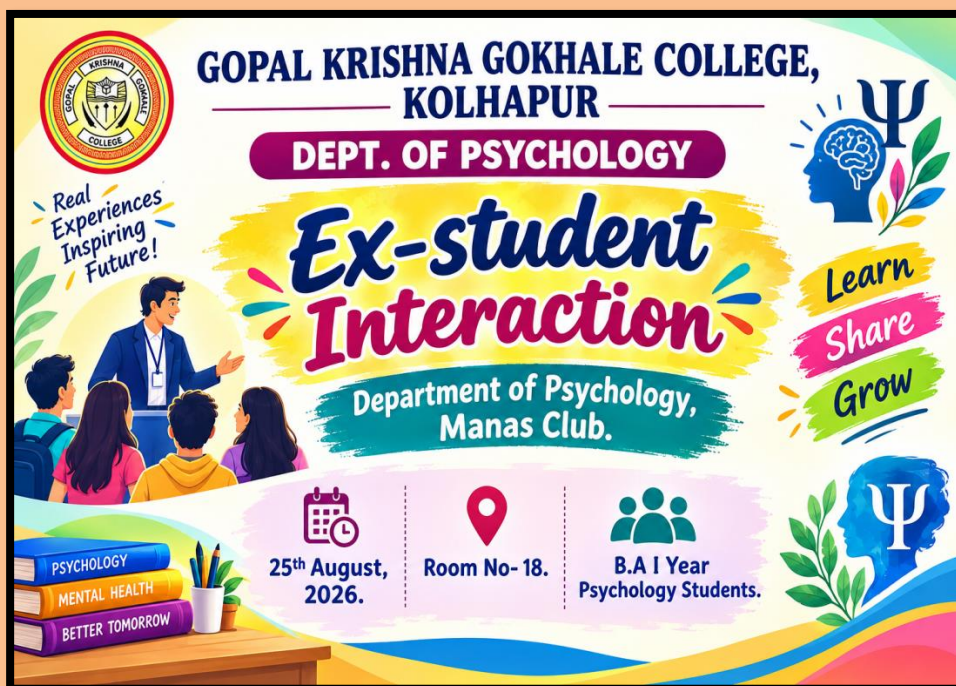

Through this activity, students:

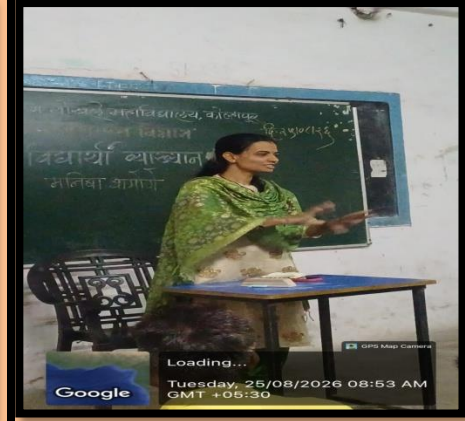

- ☐ Students gained awareness about career opportunities in psychology.
- ☐ Students received guidance for higher education and competitive examinations.
- ☐ Alumni shared practical experiences that enhanced students' confidence and motivation.
- ☐ Stronger alumni–student networking was established.
- ☐ Students were encouraged to develop professional and life skills

Conclusion:

The Ex-Students Interaction with Students Programme was successfully conducted by the Department of Psychology Manas Club. The programme created a meaningful connection between alumni and current students, enhanced career awareness, and contributed to students' academic and professional development in line with NAAC quality enhancement practices.
