Introduction:

The Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) and the Department of Psychology, Gopal Krishna Gokhale College, Kolhapur, jointly organized a Workshop on Women Empowerment and Career Opportunities on 28th August, 2026 in the Library Hall. The workshop was conducted under the concept of "Earn and Learn" with the objective of creating awareness among students about women's empowerment, financial independence, self-employment opportunities, and career prospects in the insurance sector.

Objectives:

- To promote awareness about women empowerment and gender equality.
- To motivate students towards financial independence through the Earn and Learn concept.
- To introduce career opportunities available in the Life Insurance Corporation (LIC) and allied financial sectors.

- To encourage entrepreneurship, communication skills, and professional development among students.

Highlights of the Workshop:

Shri. Keshav Govekar explained the concept of Earn and Learn and emphasized how students, especially young women, can become financially independent while continuing their education. He discussed the importance of confidence, communication skills, and leadership qualities in building a successful career.

Shri. Chandrashekhar Parate delivered an inspiring session on Women Empowerment, highlighting the growing role of women in society, the workplace, and entrepreneurship. He motivated students to develop professional skills, take leadership roles, and utilize career opportunities available in the insurance and financial sectors.

Shri. Pravin Varute provided detailed information about various career opportunities in LIC, including part-time and full-time employment, internship opportunities, marketing skills, customer relationship management, and income generation through insurance advisory services. He also explained how students can earn while learning through ethical and professional practices.

The sessions were highly interactive. Students actively participated by asking questions related to career planning, higher education, financial literacy, and employment opportunities.

Learning Outcomes:

Through this activity, students:

- Students gained awareness about the importance of women empowerment and financial independence.
- Participants understood the concept and benefits of the Earn and Learn model.
- Students received valuable information regarding career opportunities in LIC and the financial services sector.

•The workshop enhanced students' confidence, career awareness, communication skills, and entrepreneurial outlook.

• Students were motivated to explore self-employment and professional career opportunities alongside their academic education.

Conclusion:

The workshop proved to be informative, motivational, and career-oriented. It successfully fulfilled its objective of empowering students, particularly women, by encouraging financial independence and career readiness through the Earn and Learn concept. The programme concluded with an interactive question-and-answer session followed by a formal vote of thanks expressed by the Department of Psychology.
